

this time tomorrow

the day will have changed the earth has taken another bounce and been re-arranged nothing today will remain to tomorrow the pain of losing what might have been yours emotional terrorists in hiding in the black and white photos of your endless affairs pink sneakers and your white shadows can't explain the endless bravado more was less now it's just more